I miss your presence in my life more than words can say. I miss your phone calls every day lol I never ever knew what you were going to say but I always knew it was going to make me smile and laugh. I would give anything if I could see you pop your head in the side door of my house and ask “what's cooking?” Your daughters, your mother & your entire family are just as precious as you always said. Rest in peace ❤️ You will always be remembered as a bright light and an awesome person!

“ Saturdays... these were my sleep in days, my relaxing days. Aaron liked to come over on the Saturday mornings that Eric was off so they could go fishing. He made sure that the whole house was up when he arrived by going from room to room jumping on everyone's beds, singing and hollering loudly. Yes, even mine! I would get so mad at him because after waking up baby/toddler Riley, I was up for the day. My kids loved him and he was known as CRAZY Uncle Aaron. Always full of energy! I'm going to miss him. Since I lost Eric 5 1/2 years ago, Aaron has regularly checked in on Jesse, Riley and I. He had such a big heart and loved all of his people. He was so proud of his daughters and always let me know what they were up to and spoke with pride. His mom, dad, sister, niece and nephews, oh how he loved them. So protective of all of them. I am going to miss my sweet, dear friend. Continued prayers for the family. Love you Aaron!

“ Unfortunately, I can not publicly share some of my favorite Aaron stories , LoL.

We have been friends for more than 25 years. I was able to talk to Rayna today and we swapped some Aaron stories with each other and share some laughs, that really made me feel better after hearing this news, she is a strong young woman and Aaron would have been proud of you(and your Dad was crazy about you and your sister !!)

Aaron was always there when you needed him and always did whatever you asked of him.

God , you gained a great man last night , hard headed and stubborn , lol ,but had a heart of gold.

Love you brother , and I'm going to miss our talks.

“ Aaron was such an amazing, genuine, good hearted man and friend. His soul had to of been made of gold, the way he never failed to put a smile on anyone's face including mine- regardless the situation or mood. I'll forever remember your personality which was so one of a kind and unlike anyone ive ever met in life nor the memories of your presence . You were once in a lifetime my friend. Flashbacks crash though my brain ever since the beginning of all the times he made me laugh or smile even if I tried to fight it. You really showed the true meaning of "brotherhood" that you shared with my husband. You left us too soon, I know you'd be around if you hadn't had to leave. But you'll be remembered till we all see you again , fly high with the angels , we love you so much! ☐ ✨ 🌅
