We said goodbye this morning to a dear friend, Bill Whitmire. Bill, husband of Jean, was born in 1948 in Quanah, Texas, son of William and Pauline, brother to three sisters, Joy, Tiny, and Tootie. He served his country proudly in the United States Navy during the Vietnam War, before returning home to a career as an inspector for the United States Department of Agriculture.

Bill was the father of one daughter, Jaime; step-father to five: Michelle, Lynea, Steve, Will, and Paula; and loving grandfather to many. He loved fishing and family, and will be missed by many.

He is survived by: wife, Jean Whitmire of Overton; sons, Steve Rybacki of Tyler, Will Rybacki of Akron, CO; daughter, Jamie Wood; step-daughters, Michelle Nott of Rowlett, Lynea Forney of Lamar, CO, and Paula Cameron of San Diego, CA.

“ I guess the meat plant I worked at in Carthage, Texas was Bill' last inspecting assignment as that is where he retired from along with Sadler's. I was scared to death of Bill when he first came into Bill's Meat Market but I soon learned if I would just casually strike up a conversation about catching a big bass.....and he would stop in his tracks and tell me a story about a bigger one !! -- Bill taught me more in the short time he was my Inspector than I have learned during my entire career and I will always consider myself lucky to have know him -- he made me want to be a better person and employee -- and catch bigger bass. RIP Bill, I will definitely be looking for you on the other side.

Sincerely,
Angela Cervantez
