“ Mr Ross, while confused much of the time, was a strongly determined man. On my last visit, he was in the dining hall moving all of the salt & peper shakers and the sweetner containers to one table. When I asked him what he was doing, he told me he was packing . . . I just did not realize that he was, perhaps in his mind, packing for his trip to heaven. I guess he is probably trying to help keep the gates painted properly. We had some interesting visits as Hospice Chaplain to patient. His death caught me ofguard. May God comfort you and bles you for the care provided to him. Carey PonderOdyssey Chaplain
