“ I have known George for quite a few years as part of his FAA family. When I would travel out and work with him on various problems, sometimes taking multiple days. I don't remember ever seeing him lose it. He was such a peaceful man. I just wanted to share with his family and friends what an honor it was to spend time with him. Blessings to his family, his presence will be greatly missed. His love for his kids and others was evident.

“ I didn't know George well, but his daughter Brandy is a good friend of mine. The times I met George he was kind, generous and made great conversation. Always had a joke to tell. But beyond that what leaves the biggest impression of George is that his daughter Brandy had to bring my son or I to the hospital late at night many times in a few month period. George always offered up his car to be used if we had to go, even if he had to go to work the next morning. For him to help his daughter to help me - a person he truthfully really didn't even know well - by offering up his car on a work night —- that speaks the most about George to me. He and everyone I have met in his family is a genuinely kind person. He raised great kids. I know Brandy, Tonia, and Adam personally but I know all of the rest of his kids are great too. May he Rest In Peace. His legacy will always speak through he and his childrens' kind actions. I will remember your impact on my life George. ❤️❤️❤️

“ I remember first meeting Mr. Castaneda when he came to visit Daniel at SFA. He came to concerts, marching shows and to graduation. Just seeing that love he has for his children and how he is there for them. I know he is very proud of his children.

“ from George's FAA family, we will miss a co-worker and friend. George was always lighthearted and didn't get too excited about things on the job. He was very quiet in our large meetings, but ask him as question on the side, one on one, And you would get life according to George. I personally really appreciated that. I know his fellow co-workers will miss him and will I. All my best to your family. I know George would want the best for you all.

“ I was very impressed with George being a hard worker (when we were moving furniture together a while ago). We didn't keep in close touch, but I regarded him as a good father to his children. Richard
