“ Mrs. Christy I am very sorry that it has taken me so long to write in the guest book. I want you to know that I loved your son more than anything in this world. He was a lot to handle and I know you worried about him all the time but you have to admit that there was never a dull moment. He was always nice to be around and very funny. He could always make me laugh even when i was in the worst mood. I will always remember him and keep him alive in my heart forever. He has helped me in my faith and i believe that i had helped him too. To keep him alive I plan on being a counselor at the camp this next summer. I know he loved the camp more than anything. He really loved you no matter what he ever said to you he really did love you. He might try to act like he didnt but he really did. I am so glad that I met him and got to meet a lot of people because of him. He introduced to me to lots of people and especially you and your wonderful family. I hope that I can still be a part of your family forever. I love all of you very much!!!! And i cant wait to see Jeremy again!

“ Justin, I am so sorry to hear about Jeremy. I am praying for you and your family and had our church pray for you as well. Please know that our prayers are for your peace and restoration from this tragedy. I can't imagine the pain you must feel. Jesus never wastes the pain we suffer. He always turns tragedy into triumph when we give Him the broken pieces of our heart. He will heal, restore, and strengthen your heart. You will see your son again. Oh what a day that will be!
