“ I have known Jimmy since I started selling the Henderson Daily News at age eight. Our friendship and competition grew for the next four years. Jimmy stayed on for a career at the paper and our friendship was long distance for many years. I always valued Jimmy for who he was! Rest easy my friend!

Though he may have been a grumpy old man, my stepfather had a heart and was never shy. He had a gruff exterior and intense level of stubbornness, but beneath his tough facade he taught me that love comes in many forms—even in loudness, grumbles, and grunts. He was who he was, and for that, I loved him. His unpolished presence left a mark on my heart. Rest in peace, Jim. You'll be missed. Love, Casey
