I have so many good memories of Mr. & Mrs. Lockridge both. The love I saw between them was beautiful to see. I loved how he always called her Hot Rod. Mrs. Lockridge had the biggest heart, and she loved her family fiercely; there was never any doubt about that. I once was Mr. Lockridge's home health nurse, but it was never work to go see him; I was going to see friends. It was always good visiting with them. Just good people. You weren't ever a stranger to Mrs. Lockridge, she had a way of letting you know she was interested in you as a person, wanted to know about your family. I guess the best way to say it is I never met anyone else quite like her. I truly loved her, and Mr. Lockridge too. To her children, I know how difficult it is to lose your mother. It just changes your world. I'm sorry for your loss. I won't ever forget your mother. I still think of her often, & I always will.
