“ As life goes on there are few people that truly inspire and affect our lives Larry was one of those people to me. If the world had just half of his courage it would be a great place. MIKE JR

“ We met Larry when we attended Policy in Partners, a program that taught people how to advocate. Larry had a wonderful sense of humor and encouraged all the parents to dream for their children and not put limits on their dreams. We know his family will miss him.

“ We met Larry while attending SFA. He was working on his masters and taught Steve's Freshman Psychology class. We met him again in the 80's....advocating for equal opportunities for people with disabilities. Larry had many physical challenges, yet he never let that get in his way...it was other people who limited him. He has a great story that has encouraged many people!!
