“ My dear aunt Leatha was as loving and warm as you can find in life. She was a great mom and cared about her brothers' children, too. She could talk about anything: history, people, family and politics.. certainly politics! She saw a lot of change in her life and never shied away from discussing anything with me. I never heard her say a mean word about anybody, either. What a great lady and I shall miss her terribly.

“ Aunt Leatha was the most caring and thoughtful of persons. She was always attentive and willing to help. Among our fond memories is a "phone call from Leatha" we received during one of those chaotic and fluid times where there was uncertainty in the air (Arab Spring).

Leatha - "Hello Waco",

Waco - "Hi Aunt Leatha",

Leatha - "Where are you",

Waco - "In Cairo",

Leatha - "Are you OK?",

Waco - "Yes Ma'am",

Leatha - "Why are you still there? Do you need money?",

Waco - "No Ma'am, we are going to the airport now".

When Leatha disconnected I looked at my wife and said, that was Aunt Leatha, we need to go. We took off within hours of Aunt Leatha's call.

I had learned early in life that when Aunt Leatha called it was important.

Love you Aunt Leatha

“ I knew Leatha Hughes through her son Joel and his wife Teresa. I used to go to their home and play games with them on certain occasions at holidays. Leatha was there. It was very obvious that Leatha loved her children and grandchildren. She was a fun and an intelligent person to be around. I had the honor to talk to her in the phone several weeks ago on the phone after she had moved back to Jasper, Texas. I know she is with the Lord because I ask her family if she knew the Lord Jesus and I was told yes. She is in the presence of the Lord and has no more pain, or tears, around people she loved and that love her. She also is seeing the face and presence of her Savior, Jesus. Leatha, I will see you one day.
