“ My grandfather was a smart funny man and memorable to say the least, he was definitely not forgettable. If he had an opinion, he was sure to share it... and if you needed the shirt off his back I'm sure he would have shared that as well. He and my grandmother had this wonderful way of making each and every one of their grandchildren feel special and loved and never showed favoritism. I didn't think that I would survive the day when those two no longer walked this earth... but knowing they are together has made it bearable. I will never know a man like Granddaddy again... and hope that I can raise my son to be at the very least half the man he was. I love you Granddaddy and will miss you all the days of my life.

Love Nikki
