“ I always enjoyed watching him play basketball and saying “that’s Michael Jordan!” Then people were like “wrong Michael Jordan” then I would say “yeah, maybe to you! But to me the guy on the Wheaties box is a fraud because the real Michael Jordan is passing the ball to Kobe Bryant in heaven right now. R.I.P.

May God Bless his family and I will keep you in my prayers. “ Ever since I met him through Sarah, Michael touched my life like no-one ever has before. I was and will forever admire his sense of humor. God sends people into our lives for a reason and for a purpose, and I am grateful that He sent Michael into mine. My heart is heavy with grief, however I do feel that Michael is at peace with being a whole man having no sickness! One lesson I have learned through this whole situation is this: never let a day go by without reaching out to someone when they are 'on your mind'. I regret not picking up the phone and calling Michael! Roxy-I plan to come and visit you soon. Take care and be good to yourself. Call me anytime if your heart is burdened-day or night. I love you so much!, V.C.

“ Michael was my "special" patient & my special friend, as cantankerous as he was charming & sweet & I loved him dearly. We became especially close my last year at UT before retiring & Michael really opened up & began talking more & more about his life & the fact that he knew his time on earth was nearing the end. We laughed alot, we shed tears together & we even butted heads a few times but I'm so glad that my life was blessed by having Michael as a friend. I will miss him as I know you will "Grandma". I will be praying for you. Michael loved you so much.

“"Foxy" Roxy, I know your heart is breaking. I only knew Michael for one year, but will always remember the sincere embrace he shared with me in the clinic one day. I will never be able to understand the difficulty of his struggle. I pray that you will find peace knowing that your love was evident in his life. May the peace of God fill your heart today.
